For businesses, Travel creates an opportunity to offer consistent, on-demand wellness support beyond the facility, extending your impact into your clients' daily routines.

WHY TRAVEL WINS IN TODAY'S MARKET

Today's clients are constantly moving. Travel, work, stress, and environmental exposure all impact how they feel and perform. They are looking for solutions that fit into their lifestyle, not systems that require them to slow down.

PureWave Travel meets that demand with a system that is intuitive, immediate, and designed for real life. It integrates seamlessly into daily routines, allowing clients to stay supported no matter where they are, while giving your business a way to remain present in their wellness journey.

ADVANCED TECHNOLOGY. SIMPLIFIED.

At the core of Travel is the same patented technology platform used across PureWave systems, delivering precisely calibrated high-frequency energy designed to interact with the body at a cellular level. This supports optimization of biological function, enhances energy balance, and improves resilience to daily stressors.

Despite its compact size, Travel delivers a full-spectrum wellness experience that aligns with how the body is designed to function.

BUILT FOR EVERYDAY USE

Travel is engineered for simplicity, consistency, and accessibility, making it one of the easiest systems to deploy across a wide client base. Its lightweight design, rechargeable battery, and intuitive interface allow clients to use it anytime, anywhere, without friction.

What's Included:

- PureWave Travel Device.
- Built-in EMF Meter.
- Charging Cable.
- Quick Start Guide.

SMALL DEVICE. BIG IMPACT.

Travel may be compact, but its role in a client's daily routine is significant. It supports recovery, promotes relaxation, reinforces cellular Coherence, and helps the body maintain balance in environments that are often demanding and unpredictable.

It becomes something clients rely on, not just something they use occasionally.

Designed for Daily Engagement

A NATURAL FIT ACROSS MULTIPLE LIFESTYLES

One of Travel's greatest strengths is its versatility. It does not require a specific setting or routine, which allows it to serve a wide range of individuals without needing to be repositioned or re-explained.

From professionals navigating demanding schedules to athletes focused on recovery, and from frequent travelers to individuals prioritizing long-term wellness, Travel adapts naturally. It meets clients where they are, supporting their needs in a way that feels effortless and intuitive.

This flexibility makes it one of the most approachable and widely adoptable systems in the PureWave portfolio.

AN ADDED LAYER OF AWARENESS AND CONTROL

Travel introduces something most wellness tools do not — awareness. With its built-in EMF meter, clients gain real-time insight into the environments they move through every day.

This added visibility helps them better understand external stressors that may impact how they feel, while positioning Travel as a tool that not only supports the body, but also informs and empowers the user.

It becomes both a solution and a point of awareness, which deepens its value over time.

PureWave Travel is built to be used consistently, and that consistency is where its true value is realized. Unlike systems that are used occasionally, Travel integrates into the natural rhythm of a client's day, supporting them during moments that typically go unaddressed — long flights, extended work hours, post-workout recovery, and periods of mental fatigue.

As clients begin to use the system regularly, it becomes part of how they maintain their energy, manage stress, and stay balanced. This creates a deeper connection to both the product and the environment that introduced it.

A SCALABLE EXTENSION OF YOUR BUSINESS

For businesses, Travel represents more than a product. It is a way to extend your presence beyond your physical space and into your clients' daily lives.

As clients continue to use Travel outside of your environment, your brand remains connected to their wellness routine. This creates stronger relationships, increased trust, and more opportunities for long-term engagement.

It also opens the door for natural progression into larger systems and expanded offerings, making it a foundational piece within a broader wellness ecosystem.

POSITIONING & PRICING STRATEGY

Travel should be positioned as a premium, portable wellness solution that complements both services and higher-tier systems. Its accessibility allows for broader reach, while its performance ensures it maintains the integrity of the PureWave brand.

MSRP: $2,500

Strategic flexibility can be applied for bundled offerings, client upgrades, and volume opportunities, while maintaining a consistent premium perception.

WHERE WELLNESS BECOMES PART OF EVERYDAY LIFE

Travel shifts wellness from something clients schedule into something they carry with them. Over time, that shift creates consistency in how they feel, how they perform, and how they recover.

For your clients, it becomes a daily advantage.

For your business, it becomes a powerful extension of your impact.
